BUSINESS MEN WANT STREETS OILED

WINDS OF THE PAST WEEK HAVE CHOKED UP EVERYBODY—
SHOULD BE DONE.

Active agitation is being started by a number of progressive business men of Stanford to have the main business and residence streets of the city oiled this spring. The heavy winds of the past week or so, have kept dust flying in all directions, and stores and homes have been kept in a fearful condition.

It is figured that entire city can be oiled at a low cost, and the City Council will be asked to take up the matter, and if nothing can be done it by a private subscription may be raised.

The only objection raised to oiling the streets is that for a short time after the oil has been spread, it clings to the feet of pedestrians, and has a tendency to soil the hems of women's skirts. Such annoyance lasts but a few days, however, when the oil works into the roadway.

WOMEN CLUB INDORSES OILING

The Woman's Improvement Club had a call meeting on Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of electing officers for the following year and at tending to other important business. The following officers were chosen: President—Mrs. J. J. Dickey, Vice-President—Mrs. J. G. Carpenter, Secretary—Mrs. S. M. Stanley, Treasurer—Miss Kate Alcorn.

This club has done good work in the past year and is planning to do still more in the future, the past year being the first and it taking quite a while to get well organized.

The street oiling proposition was discussed and it is believed will be carried out successfully.

April 21st and 22nd have set aside for spring cleaning days and these two days will be devoted to cleaning and beautifying the city. Wagons will be furnished to carry off the rubbish that everybody in town may clean their premises.

Henry Thomas

WINE FOR REPRESENTATIVE OVER IN CASEY COUNTY.

Casey and Russell will be well represented in the lower house of the next general assembly. In the republican primary held Saturday Henry Thomas, editor of the Casey County News, won by 140 majority and as the district is overwhelmingly republican he will be elected, and will make the best representative who could have been selected except some democrat. W. T. Brown won a re-nomination for sheriff by 274 votes.

One of the worst disasters around New York since the burning of the steamer General Slocum was a fire Saturday afternoon in a ten-story building at Washington Place and Greene street, in which over 140 persons, mostly young girls and women, lost their lives. The victims were employees of the Triangle Waist Co. Most of them leaped to death from the eighth, ninth and tenth stories of the building. Many were suffocated while at work at the machines, while others were crushed to death from leaping down an elevator shaft.

Mrs. Robert Gentry and three small children were burned death Saturday night in a fire which destroyed their home at Livingston. Robert Gentry, husband and father of the victims, was probably fatally burned in a desperate, but futile effort to save them. Gentry is employed by the Louisville & Nashville railroad, and has been in charge of the Livingston coal bins. He came to Livingston about four years ago from Marshall, N. C.

MRS. MARY YAGER DIES SUDDENLY

WELL-KNOWN AND BELOVED WOMAN SUCCUMBS TO HEART TROUBLE.

Unexpectedly in the early morning hours last Friday, March 24th, there passed peacefully away into the other life and soul of Mary McKinley Yager, widow of the late William Yager, long a sufferer from heart trouble. This young woman was fully prepared for and waiting the great change into the more perfect life beyond and she stepped over the border so quietly and peacefully that it seems to all a translation.

Mrs. Yager was born in 1870, one of three children in the family of Nathan McKinley, Sr. and Bettie Cobb a brother, Nathan and a sister Mrs. Lulu Bright, surviving. When quite a small child her father died leaving her to the care of her mother this flock of little ones. Early in life she became a Christian and while in later years she could not because of ill health, take an active interest in church work, she was always true to the Master's service. In December 1896 she became the wife of William Yager and of this union there were born two sons William and Huston, left to the care of the faithful grandparents and other relatives.

The mortal remains of Mrs. Yager were laid to rest in Buffalo cemetery Sunday morning, services being conducted by her pastor Rev. D. M. Walker. A large concourse of friends and loved ones gathered to pay the last tribute to this good woman, taken so suddenly from their midst.

May Get Garden Seed

A number of prominent Mercer county citizens came here, in automobile Saturday to tell Congressman Harvey Helm how much Harrodsburg desires a government building. Congressman Helm promised to do all he can for them. They made the trip over in automobiles. In the crowd were Messrs. Lafon Riker, Glover Kyle, J. Brack Bonta, C. M. Dedman, Dr. W. P. Harvey, Hon. C. A. Hardie, L. D. Brewer, Mayor D. L. Curry, Jas. L. Isenberg, Lee Smock, Jno. G. Paul, Jas. P. Spillman, T. Sanders Orr, Frank L. Curry, Ex-Senator Stephenson, Col. E. H. Galtner, George W. Edwards, and Col. Geo. Bohm.

House Burns Down

COLORED FAMILY LOSE THEIR ALL BY FIRE

The small frame house of Anderson Hocker, colored, caught fire from a defective flue Saturday morning and was completely destroyed. The fact that the house was near the railroad and a considerable distance from other houses in Becksville, was all that saved the colored settlement from being wiped out, as the water pressure was totally inadequate at the scene of the fire to do any good. The power house engine was pumping at 125 pounds pressure, but from defective hose, mains or some cause, the water would not spout 15 feet from the nozzle. A subscription was raised to assist the Hockers, who lost everything they had in the fire.

LOAFERS MUST GET TO WORK, SAYS JURY

CHARLEY BAUGHMAN GIVEN SIX
TY DAYS FOR VAGRANCY
AND OTHER CASES PENDING.

Strict enforcement of the vagrancy law in Kentucky in Stanford is to be had in the future, and idle negroes who have been loafing about the streets of the city will have to get to work, the first trial to come up in the Police Court in months on such a charge can be taken as an indication of public sentiment. Charley Baughman, a yellow negro, was charged with being a vagrant under a warrant sworn out by Rev. D. M. Walker, pastor of the Christian church. Among the witnesses against Baughman were some of the most prominent citizens of the community and at the conclusion of the trial, the jury found him guilty and fixed his punishment at confinement in the county jail for 60 days, this being the second conviction on this offense had against this negro, though he was convicted another time for carrying a deadly weapon, concealed.

Baughman was defended by Attorney J. S. Owsley, Jr., and it is understood that he will take an appeal from the judgment. Attorney R. S. Alcorn conducted a vigorous prosecution. Among the witnesses who testified to seeing Baughman habitually loafing about the streets of the city and doing no work were H. J. McRoberts, J. C. McClary, Chief of Police R. D. Carter, Lee Hill, and Rev. D. M. Walker, the latter having heard Baughman remark after an altercation with Mack Bruce, that "if he fooled with me they'll have a bigger fire than that in town." Several others also heard the negro make this remark at the time J. H. Baughman & Co.'s big warehouse burned.

Baughman admitted himself that he had done no work since working on the court house about 11 months ago, but said he always had money and lived with his stepfather and mother and had to pay no board, rent, and that he sold pigs, etc., and saved his money to buy the good clothes which he wears. Attorney Alcorn sought to introduce evidence showing the rumors connecting Baughman with being a "bootlegger" and blind tire operator but the court ruled such evidence out as being irrelevant in this case.

There was a large crowd in the court room to hear the trial and much satisfaction was expressed at the verdict. It is understood that other cases against negroes who are constantly seen on the streets, doing nothing and wearing good clothes will be pressed, under the vagrancy law. It is a matter of interest that the present statute concerning this misdemeanor was drafted for introduction in the legislature by the late Judge M. C. Stanley. He wrote a whipping post clause into the law, which was cut out by the legislative committee. Mrs. now think that it would be a mighty good addition to the law however, and it is probable that an amendment to secure it will be introduced at the coming session of the General Assembly.

Fields Salter, Jr., was tried on a charge of vagrancy the same afternoon but it being shown that he worked until he began having hemorrhages, when he was compelled to quit hard manual labor, he was acquitted.

Receivership

FOR EUREKA PORTRAIT COMPANY GOES UP THE SPOUT.

The Eureka Portrait Company, which has been engaged in business here for the past few years, has recently gone into the hands of a receiver, and M. A. Johnson, who was in charge as general manager, has taken a traveling position on the road. For a while the company is said to have done well, but for some reason it fell behind lately and it was deemed best to wind up the business. It is said that the company will hardly pay 40 cents of the $1. Welch Rochester was named as receiver.

A number of local men hold the controlling interest here, among them being J. S. Rice, K. S. Alcorn, T. H. Shanks, M. A. Johnson, H. R. Pugh, of London, Ky., and S. D. Kessner, of Abingdon, Va.

NO NEGRO FIREMEN NORTH OF OAKDALE

AGREED TO BY Q. & C., OFFICIALS AND FIREMEN'S STRIKE IS DECLARED OFF

The strike of white firemen on the Q. & C. route was declared off Saturday night after an agreement had been signed by representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers and Horace Baker, general manager of the railroad.

The agreement is to all appearances a compromise, both sides yielding several points in the dispute. In short the agreement holds that employees who went out on a strike shall be reinstated, the railroad company, however, reserving the right to refuse to employ any fireman who has committed any act of violence during the strike. Negro firemen cannot be employed north of Oakdale, Tennessee. The percentage of negroes employed on January 1st, 1911, shall not be exceeded hereafter and negro firemen cannot be assigned to more than one-half of the passenger and preferred freight runs.

In case any question arises over the new agreement either side may appeal to Judge Martin A. Knapp, of Washington, and his decision in the matter shall be final.

The railroad company gives it out that during the strike three have been killed, six wounded and property destroyed to the amount of several hundred dollars. This, however, is believed to be underestimated. Men who have watched affairs say that more than a dozen have been killed at least six killed. The agreement between the company and officials seems to meet the approval of all the firemen.

Sheriff McCarty was called to Kings Mountain Saturday upon report from there that a railroad engineer and a detective had been shot.
